

Event 8 – 10 Mile TT Thursday 15th August 2013

Or should it be “Not the 10 mile TT?” Due a slight mishap with his positioning system our time keeper set up the finish about 0.4 miles short of the measured 10 miles. This means that Andy Bruce did not better Andy Bruce’s record time from last year. Other than that with dark clouds looming and the ever present threat of rain it was another very well attended event. Andy had to push himself to the eye ball shaking max to fend off a superb performance from George Shanley. Could Andy’s dominance in our TT events be coming to an end?
